From North Carolina, Carl Blackwelder of Concord, from California, Orin Mann, Los Angeles, from South Dakota, Clifford Robertson, Dixon, from Wyoming, Katie Halley, Sheridan.

At a meeting on Tuesday, Sept. 29, the sophomore class elected the following officers: president, Garland Scott; vice-president, William Person; secretary-treasurer, Eudora Smith, William Yates, who was president of the class last year presided, and William Person, treasurer last year, gave a report.

Several Requests For Plays Requests for the Fall Play to begin at various places have already been received from several towns and colleges. The play will be sent on a tour later in the fall quarter.

Elect Yell Leaders At the regular assembly on October 7 the student body elected Max Stalcup of Oregon and Eugene Minnich of Lock Springs as cheer leaders, to assist Richard Barrett of Eldon, who was elected College cheer leader earlier in the quarter.

Junior Class Meeting Raymond Mitzel was elected president. Helen Busby vice-president, and Betty Hickernell, secretary-treasurer of the Junior class at its meeting in Social Hall, Tuesday, Sept. 29. Clarence Woolsey, president of the class last year, presided. Mr. Wilson, business advisor, gave a brief talk on business to be conducted during the year.

To Debate Prohibition Wilbur Heckin and Wallace Culver will debate the subject: Resolved that the Eighteenth Amendment should be repealed. Oct. 29 in Social Science Club. The debate promises to be one of the best features of the club's program this quarter. The student body is invited to attend. The question will probably be debated again before the Y. M. C. A.

PI Gamma Mu Elects PI Gamma Mu, honorary social science fraternity met October 5 at 5 o'clock in room 328. Officers elected for the year are: President, Grace Westfall; vice-president, Ruth Matlock; Sylvia Clauser and Ernest Stalling are the members of the program committee. Dr. O. Myking Mehms is secretary-treasurer of the fraternity, and is also faculty sponsor.

There was much praise and many compliments paid the military band, for its excellent music and performance at the Springfield vs. Bearcat football game last Friday night. H. O. Hickernell of the College conservatory of music, who was playing trombone in the band is the director.

Over the Library Desk

Sets of Books "How," asks superintendents and teachers "are we to judge reference books for our school libraries? In glowing terms silver-tongued salesmen set forth the merits of their books. What standards can we use to judge sets of books for ourselves?"

The American Library Association approves three cardinal points in deciding the standing of an encyclopedia: 1. Authority of its information, including: Accuracy, completeness, up-to-date-ness.

2. Extent to which the work sends the reader on to other sources of information, i. e., its bibliographies.

3. Mechanical arrangement and format. This should be such that any information included can be found by the ordinarily careful reader.

The American Library Association has recently started publication of Subscription Books Bulletin which gives reviews of reference books, and indicates whether they are recommended for purchase or not, according to their merits.

A file of the Bulletin is in the College Library. Superintendents would find the Bulletin a valuable aid in the selection of reference books. It is published quarterly, costs one dollar ($1.00) a year, and may be ordered from the American Library Association, 520 North Michigan Avenue, Chicago, Ill.

Over the Library Desk will contain from time to time reviews of reference books which are available for use in the College Library.

RUTH VAN SANT'S POEM WINS.

M. S. T. C. Student Says Verse Was Written About Her Friend. The poem, "Your Laughter," which was awarded first place for poems entered in the poem contest of the Missouri College Newspaper Association held last spring at Columbia, during Journalism week, was written by Ruth Van Sant. The poem was written about Marian Tollaksen of Kansas City according to Miss Van Sant, whose home is at Shenandoah, Ia. The girls are juniors at M. S. T. C.

Mr. LaMar, president of the Missouri College Newspaper Association, for this year selected the poem which was entered in the contests.

The best news article, feature story, poem, editorial, sports story, and special column written by students of the college for the college paper, will again be entered in the M. C. N. A. contests this year. Students interested are urged to write for the Northwest Missourian.

Elect Council Delegate The senior class of the college selected representatives to the Student Council, Tuesday October 6. H. Fisher led by a big majority in the vote for representative to serve for the year.

The vote for the two-term member was so close that it was necessary to cast a second ballot which resulted in the election of Isabel Stalcup. Katherine Gray was selected as the one-term representative to the Council.

Forensic Union To Meet The Forensic Union will meet Wednesday at 11:00 o'clock in the Social Hall. The following program has been arranged: A talk on parliamentary principles by Albert Kreek; an open forum discussion on the subject, "When does tact become lying?" Parliamentary games will be played.

President Goes To Warrensburg President Lamkin attended the meeting of the Missouri State Teachers College presidents at Warrensburg, yesterday.

Bearcats Defeat Springfield Eleven

Touchdown in Third Quarter Gives M. S. T. C. Team 7 to 0 Victory in M. I. A. A.

In the first conference game of the current football season, the Bearcats went into the 1,000 per cent column by winning from the Springfield Bears, 7 to 0.

In winning the first game, Maryville took advantage of the breaks, including a blocked punt, to make a lone touchdown in the third quarter, while the rest of the game was a see-saw affair about the field, with Springfield having a slight advantage, as far as scrimmage results are concerned. The score resulted from a punt blocked on the toe of Adams of the Bears, and after three line plays from the 11 yard line, Fischer carried the ball over for the touchdown, and subsequently kicked goal.

In an earlier period of the game, Maryville took the ball within scoring distance, only to have a pass intercepted by Hillhouse, who made a mad dash of 75 yards before he was overtaken and hauled down by "Pop" Hodge on the Maryville 20 yard line.

Near the end of the final quarter of play, Springfield took the ball near their own 25 yard line, and after a series of line plays and brilliant passes took the ball to the Maryville two-yard line. The final gun stopped what appeared destined to be a score.

Summary: Yards from scrimmage, Maryville 92, Springfield 140; yards from passes, Maryville 45 from one complete, Springfield 48 from 5 complete; first downs, Maryville 4, Springfield 11.

W. T. Garrett Is Given Phalarocorax Carbo W. T. Garrett, instructor in Biology at the College, has been chattering about a funny bird which has suddenly come into his possession.

"The bird," a common Cormorant (Phalarocorax carbo) which has a long beak or bill with a sharp hook on the end, short strong legs, the four toes on each of its feet webbed, and having a wing spread of something more than four feet, and which is sort of dark brown in color came fluttering down out of a tree in the darkness, the other night. It landed in the arms of Clement C. Rickman, former student of the College, now teaching at the Maryville high school.

Clement said that he thought it was a duck, but soon found that he was a poor guesser, when the bird introduced him to that sharp crooked bill.

Mr. Rickman in the interest of science has donated the bird to Mr. Garrett.

High School Association Will Sponsor Debate Meet The Northwest Missouri High School Association will sponsor a debate tournament for the high schools of Northwest Missouri again this year. J. M. Broadbent, superintendent of schools at Martinsville, manager of debate, has sent out announcements concerning the contest to all schools in this district. The final contest of the tournament is always held the last week in April when the schools are gathered at the College for the annual spring contests.

Each issue of the Northwest Missourian will have a "Guess Who" corner featuring some prominent member of school life. It may be a student or a member of the faculty. You guess who it is and then check yourself in the next issue.

This edition's "Guess Who" is well known on the campus, is a member of the Sophomore class, and is a fraternity man. He has blond hair and blue eyes; often wears a Growlers sweater. He usually smiles from ear to ear and goes around giving the breaks to the little Freshman girls.

PI Gamma Mu Organizes PI Gamma Mu, national honorary social science fraternity, met at five o'clock, October 5, in room 328. This meeting, the first of the year, was for the purpose of organizing.

Sigma Tau Delta Meeting A short meeting of Sigma Tau Delta was held Tuesday, September 29 at 5 o'clock.

The next meeting will be Wednesday, October 14, at 5 o'clock at Miss Dyke's apartment.

The President Says

We are hearing a good deal about "free high school tuition." There is no such thing. Somebody is paying it just as somebody is paying the bill of the "free" school. Part of the cost of high school education is to be paid by the large all-of-us which we call the state, unless the smaller all-of-us which we call the local district provides a secondary school.

Without discussing the merits of the plan it may be well to see who pays the bill under the plan of "free high school tuition." The State will pay as much as $50 per year of the cost of instruction. There were more than 19,000 children living outside high school districts who completed the work of the eighth grades this last school year. There were about that many in 1930 and in 1929, and in 1928. If half of their went to high school and the State paid $50 per year for each it would take approximately $2,000,000 a year out of the distributive school fund. And that means $2,000,000 less to apportion to meet the state guarantee of $750 a year for an elementary teaching unit, or $1000 a year for a high school teaching unit.

But no high school runs on a cost of $50 per student per year. The average annual cost is nearer $100 per year. If the State pays $50 the balance will have to be borne by the school district which maintains the high school (which will be done if tuition is kept at $50) or by the district in which the student lives (if the tuition is fixed at actual cost). But many school districts will not levy an additional tax in order to pay tuition for high school pupils to go to an adjoining district. They will not raise more money to send a few pupils to town to high school. So, if actual cost is charged as tuition, the probability is that every pupil who goes to an adjoining high school will take about $50 out of the money needed to run the elementary school in the district.

The payment of high school tuition by the State and by the common school district will reduce the total amount available for elementary schools. That lesser amount will still secure more efficient elementary schools if only those with a reasonable number of pupils are maintained, less larger and fewer elementary schools are provided there will not be enough money, state and local, to make $750 available to each of them. The new school law has possibilities. If it succeeds, the people will have to make it work.

UEL W. LAMKIN.

New Instructor of Violin Is Skilled as Artist and Teacher Miss Ruth Morris, talented concert violinist, is on the Conservatory of Music faculty at the college. Those in charge of the College feel very fortunate in securing her.

Miss Morris claims Indiana as her native state and the College of Music of Cincinnati from which she was graduated as a member of the class of Adolf Hahn, noted violinist and director of this school, as her Alma Mater. As a soloist she has had great success having appeared with the Cincinnati Symphony Orchestra under the baton of Fritz Reiner, with the Cincinnati Woman's Club, Armco Orchestra of Middletown, Ohio, and in concerts before many Ohio, Indiana, Kentucky and Michigan audiences.

She is a post graduate and Gold Medal winner from the class of Adolf Hahn, Director of the College of Music of Cincinnati, and is known for her brilliant technique, full tone of unusual beauty, and a musically interpretation which combine to make her playing notable.

Miss Morris recently played in the assembly at the college, and was enjoyed by all who heard her. She has a number of students now who are taking violin, and she also has class instruction.

Newman Club Gives Dance and Party in Club House The Newman Club gave a party dance at the club house on West Third street last Tuesday evening from 7:30 until 10:30. About fifteen members and their friends were present. Miss Margaret Franken, Sponsor of the club acted as hostess for the evening. An honor guest for the evening was Mademoiselle Sophie de Kika. The club is more active this year, and has a larger membership. A business meeting was held Monday afternoon.

Kappi Phi Meeting Kappi Omicron Phi, honorary home economics sorority, elected and installed officers at a meeting on September 28. The new officers are: Ruth Oran, vice-president; Thelma Summerville, president; Helen Slagle, secretary; Marjorie Kelley, treasurer, and Louise Smith, Staff correspondent.

French Cultural Ideals Discussed

Mlle. De Kika Writes on Background of Educational System There.

EDITOR'S NOTE.—The following article was written by Mlle. de Kika of Paris, France, who is teaching French classes at the College in the absence of Miss Blanche H. Dow, now in Europe. Mlle. de Kika says that when she attempts to write an article like the following in English that it is certainly hard on the dictionary.

When trying to establish comparisons between a European country and America, one cannot forget how unlike they are, not only from the point of view of size and surroundings, but also and that which is still more important, in considering their various habits and different cultures.

France, though after Russia the largest European country, is very small when compared to the United States and is surrounded by nations with different characteristics, ideas, and languages than herself.

France has been the crossway of many peoples, and the language, though mostly derived from Latin, has been influenced by the numerous dialects of wandering tribes who passed or established themselves near the fertile plains, beautiful woods, and the pleasant country.

The French vocabulary is therefore varied and picturesque. Until the last few years, Latin, and in a lesser degree, Greek, had been considered the fundamental basis of education for a cultured and intellectual person in France. Away back in the Middle Ages, when the Sorbonne, Paris' big university, had just been rected, students gathered learned men and studied Latin as a second mother tongue. It is only in the last two centuries that modern languages have taken such large development in the educational system of France. That is due not only to the new traveling facilities and practical commercial spirit which make people eager to speak different languages, but also to the fact that international problems have brought people together to such an extent that all questions must be solved in common for the mutual benefit of nations.

That is why after a long intellectual struggle which began three centuries ago between the "Classiques" those that still thought Latin and Greek indispensable to a cultured mind, and the "Modernes," those that stood up for more practical education, modern languages, little by little acquired as much importance as the "Langues fortes" and now have a tendency to attract, as time passes, more students than ever before.

Latin and Greek are still required for all those who devote their lives to the study of literature and art. If these cannot be learned, one has to study two modern languages, generally English and German, or English and Spanish. The majority of French people who have the slightest touch of education can speak English. And every day one can find more and more earning Spanish and German. It is not only from a practical viewpoint that these languages are learned, it is not only the thought that they will be useful in a commercial situation or for future traveling that incites French people to learn languages. No, it is also the thought that the study of languages opens and develops the mind in large intellectual views and destroys narrowness of thought that makes French people so eager to acquire this knowledge, which still directs their whole educational system.

Many Programs Are Planned by Social Science Fraternity The following programs have been planned for the coming meetings of Social Science Club and PI Gamma Mu: October 15: Dr. Foster will speak on "Great Britain's Departure from the Solid Standard."

October 27: A debate on "Prohibition" by Wilbur Heckin and Wallace Culver.

November 1: Education week. Harvey Croly will talk on "What the Schools are Helping America to Achieve in Citizenship and Loyalty to Law"; Audrey Brazelton will speak on "What the Schools are Doing to bring about Internationalism and Good Will"; Raymond Houston will talk on "What the Schools are doing and can do to establish World Peace."

November 24: T. H. Cook will speak on Governor W. H. Murray.

December 15: Mrs. H. G. Dilline will review the books, "Red Bread," and "Humanity Uprooted," by Maurice Hindus.

January 5: E. W. Mounce will be the speaker.

Members of the program committee are: Ruth Matlock, Ruth Finney, Grace Westfall and Dr. H. G. Dilline, faculty adviser.

STROLLER

A telegram to the Stroller gives the information that no word has been heard from the M. S. T. C. yell leaders, lost during the Bearcat vs. Bears football games Friday night. And so nothing very definite was heard from the entire student body, which is supposed to be the team's convoy on the way to the M. I. A. A. Championship. A welcome bulletin bears the information that a supporting search party will soon set out. Information concerning who the members of the search party will be is not definite but it is thought that Mr. Growlers and Miss Green and White Peppers have volunteered.

At any rate the Stroller has it from the Backers of the trip that they are confident the missing parties will soon be located on their proper routed course and are anticipating one of the largest demonstrations, "With Meritorious Results," for "All Concerned," when the expected and much desired word is received.

Two boys, T. H. Cook and H. R. Dieterich were on the suspension list for coming late to class last week, but since the "Cards" won, the Student Council is going to try to be lenient with the sentence.

The Stroller has learned that the topic of discussion, at a recent informal get-together at the dorm, was Frats Pins. Dorothy Whitmore says, I'd take a frat pin all right, but I wouldn't take it too seriously.

The Stroller finally got the "Walk-Out Day" started and every body went singing the rain for a day of fun at the picture show, the ball line, the Country Club, the dance and a few other places too unusual and numerous to mention.

Some sophomore boys may have to invest in some new belts and some other freshman boys may have to wear patches on their pants—never-the-less we'll have to confess that no matter the weather, there's nothing much better, than when we-all get together at M. S. T. C.

Yours—with a smile and best wishes—for everyone—

EXTRA - CURRICULAR ACTIVITIES The subject of extra-curricular activities is an important one in the life of the average college man or woman. However it is the good fortune of this school to be provided with a great number of outstanding clubs, religious, political, and social that would be a source of pride on the campus of any college or university. The work of these organizations is the background in which most of the campus leaders are developed. After all, the purpose of college training is chiefly the training of leaders of thought and action who will be vigorous enough to mould and guide the community, the state, and the nation of tomorrow. The growth of these organizations seems to indicate that they fill pretty thoroughly the pressing need for a medium of self-expression.

In this school we find, however, that

Teachers' Meeting Program Complete

Many Excellent Speakers Will Be Here For N. W. District Convention Next Week.

Plans for the fourteenth annual meeting of the Northwest Missouri Teachers Association to be held here at the College October 22-23 are nearing completion.

Many excellent speakers have been secured including: Miss Florence Hart, President of the National Education Association; Judge Marcus A. Kavanaugh of the Chicago Supreme Court, who will speak on "Crime and Criminals"; Dr. E. L. Hendricks, president of Warrensburg S. T. C.; Dr. A. Lindehl, President of the State Teachers College at Ada, Okla.; T. E. Musselman, naturalist, Quincy, Illinois; Charles A. Lee, State Superintendent of Schools and John L. Bracken, President of the Missouri State Teachers association and others.

An effort has also been made to arrange strong programs for a departmental and group meetings. The large district high school orchestra under the management of Charles R. Gardner and under the direction of H. O. Hickernell of the College will play for the several hundred teachers and others who will probably be here.

The DeWolf Hopper Players and singers will be one of the entertaining features of the program. These entertainers will give two performances one of which at least will probably be thrown open to public admission.

The officers of the Association are: President, Harry Thomas, superintendent of Schools, Mayville. First Vice President, Miss Jessie Murphy, Grant City.

Second Vice President, Francis Skath, Gower. Third Vice President, Mrs. Mabel Newlon, Rock Port.

Treasurer, Hubert Garrett, Maryville S. T. C.

Secretary, Bert Cooper, Maryville S. T. C.

Executive Committee—Charles Myers, State High School Inspector, term expires 1931; W. H. McDonald, superintendent of schools, Trenton, term expires 1932; U. L. Riley, (resigned), superintendent of schools, Maitland, term expires 1933.

Sectional Chairmen—High School Section, J. W. Pierce, Skidmore; Elementary School Section, Miss Ione Devers, Skidmore; Rural School Section, Mrs. Mary Guillems (resigned), Craig; College Section, Robert N. Montgomery, Tarkio; County Superintendents' Section, E. J. Kettelman, Platte City.

several hundred autographs is now on display in the case in front of the auditorium on second floor of the administration building. The collection contains autographs of practically every nationally known celebrity of the country as well as those of several other nations, and attracts a large number of spectators.

Dr. Burris Jenkins Will Speak Here in January Dr. Burris A. Jenkins, pastor of The Community Church in Kansas City, will be the speaker at the second annual International Fellowship Banquet, to be held here in January, under the auspices of the Student Y. M. C. A. The banquet will be held in January instead of November, as the original date, because of the arrangements to have Dr. Jenkins come to Maryville. The exact date in January will be decided by a committee.

In keeping with the idea of last year, it is planned to get greetings from foreign ambassadors and ministers at Washington to be read by representative students.

the type of students who need the training in leadership afforded in this kind of work conspicuous chiefly by their absence. This is the sort of condition that must be corrected before the full value of a college education can be imparted to every student in the institution. If students leave college utterly devoid of any knowledge of the art of thinking or lacking in initiative they are not in the true sense of the word, college people.

We urgently advise all students who are not now taking an active part in at least one of these activities to do so and thereby enlarge their scope, make valuable social contacts, and broaden and extend their viewpoint. There are so many organizations on the campus that everyone can, without difficulty, find something in which he is fitted.

Education after all is growth that is chiefly cortical or cerebral. The extension and supplementing of these processes then should merit our principal attention while at school. The motto that should be the watchword of all students, "Let us each day grow larger in mind and in spirit" is a motto that can be realized in no more effective way than through the activities of the campus organizations.

Spoofhounds Get Light Workout For Lafayette Game

Strong St. Joseph Eleven Will Meet M. H. S. Team Here Friday.

Practice yesterday afternoon at the Maryville high school was curtailed, and only a short session was held in the gymnasium after school. Coach Wallace Croy and Bill Smith did not want to get their men out on the wet field, preferring to give them a day of rest following their Six Six Conference win at Trenton last Friday.

The Spoofhounds were learning a few new plays to be used Friday afternoon against the Lafayette high school Shamrocks in the second Big Six game for the locals here. Coach Croy stopped in St. Joseph last Friday night to see the Lafayette-Savannah game, and reports that the green clad north enders of St. Joseph are strong this year. The Lafayette passing attack is pretty good, accounting for their win over Savannah, and the Spoofhound coaches drilled their charges in a defense against it.

All of the players came out of the Trenton game in good shape with the exception of "Buck" Schmidt and George Cockayne. Cockayne is hobbling about, but will be back in shape for Friday's game. Schmidt hurt a finger in the early part of the second quarter at Trenton, but that too will be fixed up before the game with Lafayette.

Although the Spoofhounds were somewhat "draggish" in their game with Trenton, Coach Croy believes they will snap out of it. He is proud of the way the team is co-operating with him to produce a Big Six winner, and especially so of Cockayne and Allen Short. These two players were dropped from the squad last year but this year no other players are battling more than Short and Cockayne.

Monday Luncheon Club

Mrs. J. Arthur Nold was hostess to the Monday Luncheon Club yesterday. Mrs. H. S. Thomas received the prize for high score.

W. M. S. of Baptist Church

The Woman's Missionary Society of the First Baptist church will have an all day meeting Friday beginning at 9:30 o'clock at the church. The morning will be spent in doing repair work and packing the barrel of fruit that is to be sent to the Missouri Baptist Hospital in St. Louis. A covered dish luncheon will be served at noon. At 2:30 o'clock there will be a Missionary program.

Ladies of the G. A. R.

The meeting of the ladies of the G. A. R. which was to have been held October 14, has been postponed until October 21, because Mrs. Elizabeth Hart of Kansas City would be unable to meet here this week.

Ladies Auxiliary V. F. W.

Mrs. Bertha Anderson was hostess to the Ladies Auxiliary of the Seth Ray David Post of the V. F. W. regular meeting at 7:30 o'clock last night.

An election of officers resulted in president, Miss Bertha Anderson; secretary, Mrs. Maude Upchurch; vice-president, Mrs. Winifred Turner; treasurer, Mrs. Mary Carmichael; conductress, Mrs. Venella Kirchhofer; guide, Mrs. Goldie Powers; chaplain, Mrs. Gay Leeper; trustee, Mrs. Viola Anderson. Installation will be held at the November meeting, with Mrs. J. Turner, 118 East Edwards street. Miss Hattie Culver was elected for membership. She will be initiated at the November meeting.

Following the business session a social hour was spent. Twelve members were present.

Arts and Crafts Department

The Arts and Crafts department of the Twentieth Century Club held an all day meeting yesterday at the home of Mrs. J. C. White, with Mrs. W. L. Rhodes, Mrs. J. E. Carpenter and Mrs. Anna Bent assisting hostesses.

A covered dish luncheon was served at noon. The day was spent in making quilts to be given to the Needle Craft Guild, with Mrs. T. F. Reimer in charge.

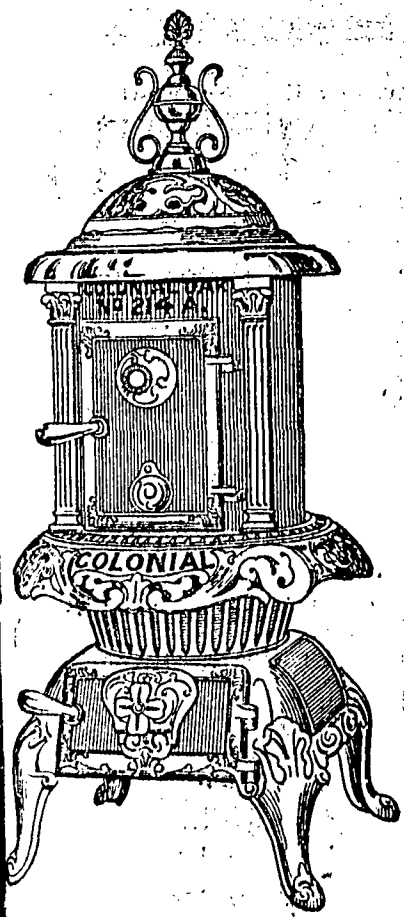

Mrs. Charles Wiles, chairman of the department, presided at the business meeting. Plans were made for special group meetings to work on plastic art pieces.

Mrs. J. O. Miller will be hostess to the department on November 9. Miss Laura White was a guest of the club. Members present were Mrs. James Anderson, Mrs. R. M. Barry, Mrs. Bent, Mrs. Carpenter, Mrs. J. F. Cook, Mrs. Z. Curnutt, Mrs. Wallace Croy, Mrs. W. Heideman, Mrs. J. W. Herndon.

There will be a business meeting at the First Baptist Church at 7:30 o'clock tomorrow evening. This is to consider matters in regard to the calling of a pastor for the church. Rev. W. D. Baker will be present. Mrs. George Greeson will be leader at the prayer meeting. Her subject is "Prayer."

20 Looking Back Twenty Years 20

The opening of Maryville's gala week commenced today. Monday evening no free attractions were given, as they were not ready to open. A concert was given on the streets by the Maryville band, and what shows were ready were given.

The uptown streets presented a beautiful appearance Monday night with all of the electric lights on and the decorations that are up on the streets and in the booths. The city has never been decorated any prettier than it is for this fair.

The Normal closed at noon today in order to give the students a half holiday for the street fair. They will probably close on Thursday afternoon. The street lights go off every night at 12 o'clock.

So far the police have had no arrests to make on account of drunkenness or disturbances. If only this could keep up all week.

J. D. Ford of this city is busily engaged in barreling his apples from his famous orchard, near Parnell. The workers have just finished barreling his crop of Jonathans, which measured up 2,000 barrels. They are beginning this week on the remainder of the crop, which consists mostly of Ben Davis, which it is likely will measure fully double the crop of Jonathans.

ONLY CONOCO
GERM PROCESSED OIL
Can Give You the Extra Benefits of the
"HIDDEN QUART"

that Stays Up in Your
Motor and Never Drains Away

Almost half of all motor wear takes place while you're starting your car! And it's in the starting period that oils not germ processed fail to protect your motor. They lubricate your motor after it starts... but they drain away when your car is idle, leaving vital working parts unlubricated while you're starting.

Germ Processed Oil gives you safe lubrication not only after your motor starts but during the starting period! For only Germ Processed Oil has penetrative lubricity... the ability to cling to, penetrate and combine with metal surfaces. A "hidden quart" of Germ Processed Oil stays up by your motor and never drains away. It cuts down starting wear and makes starting easier and quicker.

Save your motor from wear... Change now to Conoco Germ Processed Motor Oil, the only oil in North America made by the patented germ process. Fill up at any station that displays the Conoco Red Triangle.

Sharkey Hands Primo Carnera Heavy Beating

Boston Sailor Hammers Giant Italian Throughout 15-Round Bout.

New York, Oct. 13.—(P)—The bigger they come the better Jack Sharkey likes it and Primo Carnera, for one, won't venture to deny it.

In the same ring at Ebbets Field where he found 170-pound Mickey Walker too tough a foe to take a few weeks ago, Sharkey blasted his way to a decisive victory on points over the 260-pound Carnera last night and bounced himself right back to the forefront of challengers for Max Schmeling's heavyweight crown.

While a crowd of 30,000 looked on, Sharkey went to work methodically on the big Venetian and relentlessly cut him down to size. Before the Boston sailor's hand was raised in token of victory after 15 rounds of spectacular milling, Sharkey had closed Carnera for one nine count, felled one of the Italian's eyes and had given him so savage a beating that Primo was on the verge of a knockout on a half dozen occasions.

Primo Shows Courage.

But if the fight reinstated Sharkey to his position as a leading contender it served also to remove any lingering doubt as to Carnera's courage and stamina. The huge Italian failed to exhibit his vaunted punch but he demonstrated all kinds of courage. Subjected to punishment severe enough to have finished almost any other heavyweight, Carnera still was in there offering what resistance he could when the final bell sounded.

Through the first three rounds and a part of the fourth Carnera amazed Sharkey and the crowd with his speed and skillful boxing. Using a left hand a Tommy Loughran, Carnera stubbed Sharkey off balance and had the American floundering about.

But the whole complexion of the fight changed in a flash in the wild fourth round when Sharkey, after taking a cuffing in the clinches, suddenly lashed out with a left hook that dumped the huge Carnera on the canvas with a dull thud.

Takes Count of Nine.

Gunboat Smith, the referee, started to count. At six, Primo, stunned, pulled himself to his feet with the aid of the ropes but went down again as his head cleared sufficiently for him to obey his handlers' sign to take a count of nine.

As Primo went down on one knee again, Sharkey tore across the ring and shouted:

"He went down without being hit, he's disqualified. Count him out."

But Smith waved him aside and resumed the count, Sharkey, mad with rage, tried to climb out of the ring but his manager, Johnny Buckley, pushed him back.

Carnera Takes Beating.

Under the rules, Smith was within his rights in resuming the count. New York State Athletic Commission regulations provide that if a fighter goes down, gets up and goes down again without being hit, the referee, within his discretion, either may disqualify the offender or resume the count. Referees here usually have resumed the count if the offender seemed to be not badly hurt or have disqualified him if he seemed helpless.

By the time Sharkey was ready to resume Carnera was on his feet, leaning against the ropes. The battle was on again but Carnera never was the same. Though round after round he took a merciless beating as Sharkey, using his left hand almost exclusively, hammered away at head and body. At times, left hooks to the body bent Carnera double and left hooks to the chin sent him reeling on his heels or bounced him to the ropes. In the final round, Carnera was barely able to keep his feet as Sharkey nailed him time and again with lefts and even tossed in a right or two.

Carnera won only one round, the third, and held Sharkey even in another, the thirteenth. The others all went to the Boston sailor. Carnera weighed 261 pounds; Sharkey 202½.

This and That

A Nancy Hall sweet potato weighing three and a half pounds was brought into the Forum office this morning by Lester Holliday, 421 South Vine street, who grew the potato here in town.

The tuber is pronounced one of the biggest ever seen by many an old timer who has viewed it on the counter in the Forum office. One man wanted to know if Mr. Holliday had pulled it up with a stump puller.

Kansas State and the initial step in the defense of the Jayhawkers' Big Six title.

Three backfield men, Phil Borello, Leg Page and Bernard Gridley were confined to their rooms with colds yesterday while their mates ran signals on a rain soaked field. Carlie Smith, Johnny Madison and Clarence Spangler had recovered sufficiently from their injuries to attend the session, but doubt was expressed that Smith and Pangler would be in shape to play much against the Aggie rivals.

The Aggies on the other hand returned from their victorious invasion of Missouri in good condition with the exception of Capt. Henry Cronkite, who has an infected foot. He is expected to rejoin the squad later in the week.

The game is the only conference tilt on the schedule this coming week-end.

Bearcats Will Play Game With Cape Girardeau

Announcement Removes Doubt About Tilt—Team Leaves Thursday.

Coach E. A. Davis of the Northwest Missouri State Teachers College announced this morning that the Maryville Bearcats would play the Cape Girardeau Indians at Cape Girardeau next Friday night. The game was originally scheduled along with the other M. I. A. A. Conference games, but last week there was talk that the game would be cancelled because Cape Girardeau was unable to pay the expense of bringing the Bearcats down there.

In spite of the rain and wetness of the playing field Coach and Henry Iba had the Bearcats out working last night. After a few signal drills, going up and down the field, the Bearcats had a long, stiff scrimmage.

None of the Bearcats was injured during the game Friday night with Springfield, and all were out for practice. Those who were injured in the Peru game, Glenn Marr, Wilbur Stalcup and Bernard Cowden, and those who were out before the game, Victor Mahood and Don Sheetz, are still on the inactive list. Stalcup may be able to play by Friday although his ankle is still weak. The others will not be able to play.

Practice tonight will probably consist of some scrimmage, although it will be light. Coach Davis said this morning that the team would leave in the College bus Thursday morning for Cape Girardeau. As was the case two years ago, the team will probably drive as far as St. Louis the first day, hold a light workout there, and go on to Cape Girardeau Friday morning, arriving there in the afternoon.

Mad Play Will Run in No More Plater Races at Fairmount

Collinsville, Ill., Oct. 13.—(P)—Mad Play, famous race horse of other years, will run in no more cheap plater races at least at Fairmount Park.

The entry clerk today had this ruling from the stewards:

"Reject entry of Mad Play for future races.

"He has kept the faith."

Winner of approximately $136,000 in purses while racing under the colors of Harry F. Sinclair's Rancocas stable, old Mad Play, under new owners, was entered Saturday in the last race on the program, with victory worth only $450 to the winner.

Twelve horses went to the post, a field which in another day would have caused the gallant old thoroughbred no trouble whatever, but he could get no farther to the front than fourth, and he passed the judges' stand with six horses ahead of him. As he passed the stand he went lame. Jockey Dubois eased him up as carefully as he could, and when the old horse came to a stop at the clubhouse turn, the jockey hopped off and led him back to the judges' stand.

The stewards knew what Mad Play had done in his day—knew that he richly deserved pleasant pastures, but they couldn't arbitrarily order him to pasture. They could and did, however, rule that the entry clerk reject entry of Mad Play for future races.

It was reported at the track today that the present owners plan to turn Mad Play out to pasture.

Inventor Drives Automobile With Compressed Air

Los Angeles, Oct. 13.—(P)—Roy J. Meyers, inventor, predicts motorists soon may refill their tanks with air instead of gasoline.

Meyers yesterday demonstrated an automobile with a six cylinder radial type engine, minus the usual carburetor and ignition and cooling systems, but equipped with a compressed air tank filled to 500 pounds pressure.

He pulled a lever and the car picked up speed quickly and smoothly, with a slight hiss of air from the exhaust valves. The motor was geared so the maximum speed reached was 35 miles per hour, but Meyers said that with a gear shift and a higher powered engine, speeds equal to or higher than those of gasoline-driven cars may be attained.

As the air goes through the engine, forcing pistons up and down, much of it is recaptured and recompressed, Meyers said. The cooled air returns to the pressure tank, which is heated by electricity from batteries and a generator.

This heating, he explained, expands the air in the tank, increasing the pressure. He did not make clear how many pounds of air would be required per mile.

Esther McMurphy and Maxine Hudson Are Junior Class Queens

Miss Esther McMurphy of this city, daughter of George McMurphy, sr., and Miss Maxine Hudson of Stanberry, were elected junior class candidates in the queen contest to be judged by James Montgomery Flagg of New York City, noted magazine illustrator, for the College this morning.

Miss Annamie Adams of Blockton, Ia., was a nominee of the class, but was eliminated after the votes were tabulated.

Each class is to elect two queens this week. The senior class will meet tomorrow, the sophomore class will meet later in the week. The freshman class has set no time for election.

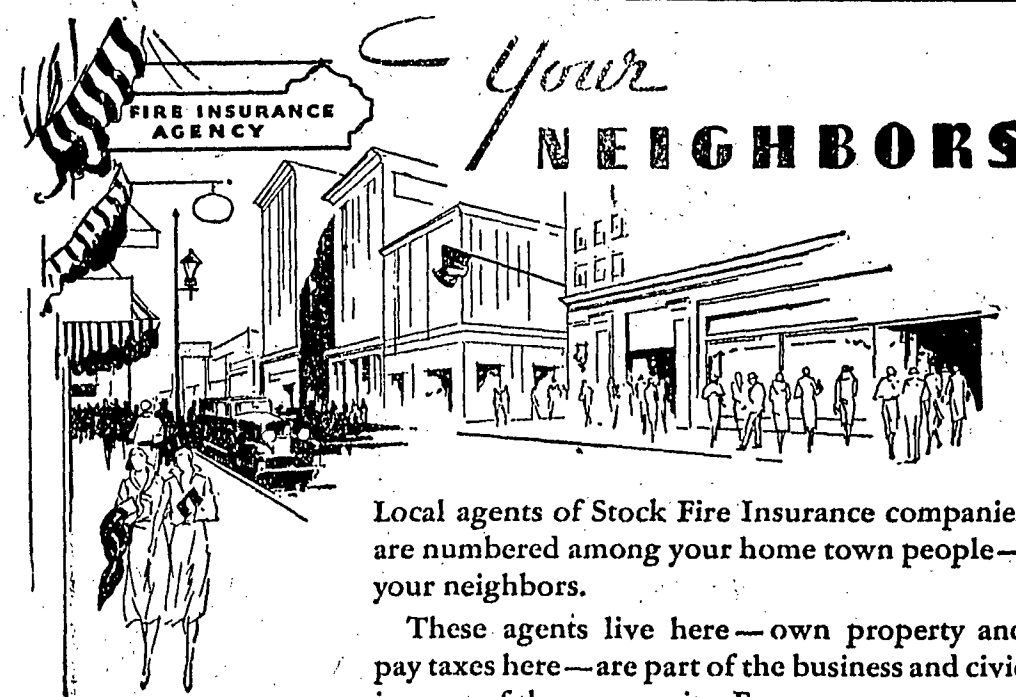

The pictures of Miss McMurphy and Miss Hudson will be among the eight, representing the four classes, to be sent to Mr. Flagg. He will select four to become the queens for the "Tower," annual junior class publication.

Sanitary Swimming Pool Is Sold at Sheriff's Sale

The Sanitary Swimming pool was sold at sheriff's sale Saturday to Mr. and Mrs. Robert S. Strother of Maryville for back taxes. The suit was filed by the prosecuting attorney for the county to collect county and state taxes. The bid on the pool, located on Vine and First streets, was for $418, which covered the back taxes, not including the years of 1929 and of 1930.

The pool, owned by George Alecy, was sold last summer to the City of Maryville for city taxes, and later came into Mr. Alecy's hands by payment of taxes and costs.

Last summer the pool was leased to Mr. Strother and operated by his brother of Winfield, Kan. Mr. Strother said today he was not in a position to say what disposition he would make of the pool.

NONE LIKE GOD:—Thy righteousness also, O God, is very high, who hast done great things: O God, who is like unto thee!—Psalm 71:19.

HUNGER AND REVOLT

When William Green reminded the American Federation of Labor the other day that "revolutions grow out of the depths of hunger," he touched on a simple truth with which every student of history is familiar.

And yet that statement, by itself, is incomplete. Hunger does not breed revolutions until the ordinary man has lost all hope that his hunger will ever be appeased. Hunger must join hands with despair before it can result in violence.

That, probably, is why real revolutions are such rare events. There has always been hunger, since the first cave man had to poke around in last week's bone pile for something to gnaw on; and starvation has always been a very real possibility to a certain percentage of the earth's population. But revolutions, all things considered, do not take place very often.

Perhaps that is the most surprising part of it all. The human race will stand a good deal of kicking around before it uses its fists. If the meek are to inherit the earth, the common man will surely come into riches some day, for meekness is one of his outstanding characteristics. The patience with which human beings will put up with hunger, privation and injustice is one of the most amazing things in all history.

There is something rather significant in this. Without knowing it, the ordinary person has a good streak of the doctrine of non-resistance in his heart. Gandhi, who cries that not even liberty is worth having if it must be fought for, knows more about human nature than the believers in strong armies realize.

Most of us have moments in which we are neither sure why we are here nor confident that anything worth getting lies ahead of us. But meanwhile we can make a go of it, if only we can contrive somehow to get enough to eat, a cozy place to call home and a little leisure for love and laughter. This goal may not be a very lofty one; yet the race as a whole clings to it with a fidelity that is astounding.

And hunger? Well, revolutions grow in its depths, as Mr. Green says; but it

WOMEN: watch your BOWELS

What should women do to keep their bowels moving freely? A doctor should know the answer. That is why pure Syrup Pepsin is so good for women. It just suits their delicate organism. It is the prescription of an old family doctor who has treated thousands of women patients, and who made a special study of bowel troubles.

It is fine for children, too. They love its taste. Let them have it every time their tongues are coated or their skin is sallow. Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is made from fresh laxative herbs, pure pepsin and other harmless ingredients.

When you're a sick headache, can't eat, are bilious or sluggish, and at the times when you are most apt to be constipated, take a little of this famous prescription (all drug stores keep it ready in big bottles), and you'll know why Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is the favorite laxative of over a million women!

BAD ROAD MANNERS.

(Pittsburg Headlight)

A noted American police executive, writing on the subject of highway safety and decrease of motor car accidents makes this declaration:

Not until good manners are the rule rather than the exception, and it becomes bad form for a pedestrian or operator to be selfish, inconsiderate or discourteous, may we expect an appreciable reduction in the number of injuries and fatalities suffered in motor car accidents.

He proceeds to say that reduction in accidents must be accomplished through education and that both drivers and pedestrians must become "accident conscious."

The seriousness of the situation which the police executive was discussing is apparent to anyone who has noted the figures gathered in this country. In the number of deaths caused by motor car accidents, there has been an increase from twelve per 100,000 persons in 1920 to 27 in 1930. The number of deaths per 100,000 registered motor cars from 1920 to 1930 ranged from 106 to 135 and the average for the period was 119. In the last three years there have been 21 deaths for every 10,000,000 gallons of gasoline consumed. His point is that the statistics show a marked rise with increased motor car registration.

This indicates a failure to bring about the things that he considers essential to a reduction in the death rate better road manners and less selfishness and more consideration and courtesy. That is, education of the public has not kept pace with the increase in the number of drivers.

The police executive seems to be working on a sound basis. Most of the accidents on the highways and streets, whether two or more cars are involved, probably can be directly checked up to a lack of good road manners, or selfishness. A driver will pass another in a dangerous place and not hesitate to place the other fellow at a disadvantage in order to achieve passing him. He will crowd him into a ditch in order to make himself safe. Another driver will force pedestrians back on a street intersection in violation of their plain rights simply because he has the advantage of them with his car. Drivers of big trucks or busses are especially discourteous in many cases. They insist on holding to the center of the road and will refuse to get over on their side to permit car drivers to pass them in safety.

No small part of the enmity that exists among drivers of motor cars for big trucks and busses is due to bad manners of the drivers of the larger carriers. Corporations operating big commercial lines in the East are vigorously enforcing strict rules about courtesy on the part of their drivers, realizing much ill will against the big carriers has been caused by the overbearing attitude of the drivers.

Uniform legislation on driving rules is urged as one of the means of combating bad manners. Education cannot be depended upon to bring about an immediate reduction in the number of fatal accidents, unless heavy fines and jail sentences are accepted as parts of the course of study.

GUILTY LIPS

by LAURA LOU BROOKMAN Author of "MAD MARRIAGE" OWNED BY NEA SERVICE INC.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

Pretty Norma Kent, 20-year-old secretary in a law office, marries MARK TRAVERS, son of F. M. TRAVERS, millionaire real estate dealer, after the father has sworn to cut Mark off without a penny if the marriage takes place. Norma has known Mark only few weeks, did not know during the courtship that he was a millionaire's son.

The story opens in Marlboro, middle western metropolis. CHRIS TINE SAUNDERS, with whom Norma shared an apartment, and BRADLEY HART, Chris' employer, are witnesses at the wedding. Before this Norma has repeatedly refused to marry BOB FARRELL, young lawyer of whom she is fond as a friend.

Mark sells his expensive roadster to get money for the honeymoon trip. He and Norma depart for Blue Springs, fashionable resort. As the train speeds south Mark tells her there is something he has forgotten to mention.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER 32

Chris Saunders twisted the ring on her finger. It was an oddly engraved band set with jade. Chris always wore the ring. She had worn it ever since Norma had known her.

When she looked up all, Chris said was, "Well—?"

"He—didn't say anything," Norma went on hurriedly. "Oh, it was terrible that first night when I knew he recognized me! I tried to tell Mark—I'd tried to tell him before but he wouldn't let me! Mark knows him, Chris. He and Stone are some sort of cousins. Mark didn't guess that I'd ever seen him before though!"

The other girl straightened. Her eyes, meeting Norma's quite levelly, were a mask.

"Listen," Chris said, "you've done nothing to be ashamed of. If I were you I'd save my worrying until I had something to worry about. Something real! Don't lose your head, Norma. Tell me what you expect to do during the next four weeks?"

"I haven't thought it all out. I'll have to get a job somewhere I suppose. The money—I have won't last. Anyhow I'd rather be doing something—"

Again Chris was absorbed in the ring.

"I understand why you ran away last night," she said slowly, "but it might have been better if you'd stayed." "Oh, I couldn't! Do you think I'd accept anything from people when I know they hate me? I just couldn't do it, Chris. Mark wouldn't want me to stay there if he knew. I made up my mind before he left that I wouldn't stay in the house. I couldn't tell him because he was counting on the trip so. It had to be done. I wasn't willing to stand in Mark's way."

"But don't you see, dear, running away like this is going to make trouble?" Norma's chin lifted but her lips trembled. "I thought you'd be willing to help me, Chris," she said. "I didn't know you'd feel this way about it!"

"See here, infant, of course I want to help you! I'm just trying to think what's the best thing to do, that's all." "I won't go back to Mark's father's house. I tell you I won't!"

Chris sighed. "Well," she said, "that settles that! As I said, I don't blame you much. If you won't go back I think you'd better go to work. Why didn't you come to my place last night instead of going to that rooming place?"

"You know you've no room now, Dorothy's with you."

"Always have room. We can double up."

"No, I don't want you to do that. You see things are different now, Chris. I've got to stand on my own feet. I hope to tell you about things, to tell them over and feel there's one person who understands. Oh, I don't know what I'd do without you! But I'm not going to be one more to impose on your generosity."

"Silly! Why, that's ridiculous!" "Maybe. Anyway, that's how I feel about it. This place I've moved to is all right. I'll want to see you often, Chris, but I've paid the rent for a week, and I think I'll stay there."

"Suit yourself. I suppose you'll come to dinner some time?"

"Love to. Tell me about Dorothy. What's she like?"

"Oh, Dorothy's all right. We don't pal around the way you and I did but she's O. K. as a roommate. Say—Chris' dark eyes flashed with a sudden inspiration. "Why didn't I think of it!"

Why didn't I think—? "Think of what? What are you talking about?"

"A job for you! Don't know what it pays but it would be a lot better than nothing. Dorothy was telling me about it last night. A girl she knows who works for a literary agent on the same floor we're on is going to quit Saturday. Getting married. I don't even remember the girl's name, though I met her once. Lucille, something—or other. She was going to tell her boss about it today. It's ten to one they haven't hired anyone else yet."

"What's a literary agent? What kind of a job is it?"

"Oh, the job wouldn't be hard. Just regular secretarial work. Stuart is the man's name. Frederick Stuart. People who write articles for magazines and stories send them to him. He finds someone to buy them. Dorothy says he's one of the best in the city."

"Do you think he'd hire me?" "Why not? You're a good secretary. Here—I tell you what I'll do. I'll get Dorothy to go in and see this girl in the morning and if nobody's taken the job I'll call you to come right down. How's that?"

"Fine. Say, that'll be great, Chris! I couldn't very well go to Brooks and Waller and ask for a recommendation when I left them the way I did—"

"We'll get Lucille to recommend you personally. She'd do that for Dorothy, I'm sure."

Ten minutes later they left the restaurant. Each boarded a different street car. Chris urged Norma to spend the evening with her but the younger girl made excuses.

It was nearly eight o'clock when Norma unlocked the door of her newly rented room. The first flash of the electric light was startling. Everything looked strange and different. Shabby in the glow of yellow lamp light. She closed the door behind her and took off her hat.

Across the room, tacked to the faded wallpaper, Norma saw a calendar. She had not noticed it earlier in the day. The calendar bore the name of a coal company printed in large lettering and beneath this the head of a flirtatious young woman dressed in red. The calendar had evidently been added to the room as a decoration. No one had bothered to remove the November sheet from the pad.

Swiftly Norma crossed the room and tore off the ante-dated leaf. Yesterday had been the second of December. She counted down four weeks. That brought her to the 30th. Four weeks—it might be five! Painstakingly Norma drew a circle about the number 30. It occurred to her for the first time that Mark would be away on Christmas.

For a long time she sat and stared at the calendar. Then she arose, drew a large cross over the date that had just ended. There would be 27 more crosses to draw before she could hope to see Mark again. Twenty-seven more crosses! From childhood and Sunday school Norma remembered a hymn about crosses. No, she told herself vehemently, it was not sacrilegious to think of such things! Every day away from Mark, every 24 hours represented by a cross upon her calendar, was a literal cross to be borne on her shoulders.

Oh, what good could telling herself to pray do? What good could anything do?

Norma was 20 years old. She was very much in love, desperately unhappy and, on some, so, as might have been expected of any young girl in a similar situation, she cried herself to sleep.

Morning when it came was gray and dreary. A sunless December day threatening snow which did not fall. Norma did not go out for breakfast. She dined through the routine of dressing made her bed and rearranged a bureau drawer.

At 9:45 she was summoned to the telephone. Chris' voice at the other end of the wire said brightly, "Everything's arranged. You're to come down on so-so you can and Dorothy'll take you to Dr. Stuart's office. How soon can you make it?"

"Half an hour I guess. I'll start right away."

"Then step on it! The job's as good as yours now!"

Chris was a dear. For her sake Norma tried to seem more enthusiastic than she. It was a relief to get down on the street car, later meeting the unknown Dorothy and being led by her to the unknown Frederick Stuart's office.

OUT OUR WAY

Half-way down the corridor Dorothy stopped. "Wait a minute!" she said abruptly. "You're not feeling so high this morning, are you? Need a little rouge. Here—let's see what we can do—"

They went into the wash room. From her own vanity case Dorothy produced rouge and a pinkish pad with which to apply it. Five minutes of arduous ministrations and Norma emerged, the color in her cheeks notably brightening her appearance.

"It isn't too much," the other girl assured her. "The whole building has artificial light today."

The lettering on the frosted glass before them read, "Frederick J. Stuart, Author's Representative." Dorothy opened the door and they entered.

A slim girl, taller than Norma, with ash blond hair, arose to meet them. "Hello," she smiled at Dorothy. "Is this Miss Travers?"

"Yes. And this is Miss Fenway, Miss Travers. She's come to see about the job."

"Of course, Mr. Stuart's in now. Shall I ask him if he can see you? I know it will be all right."

Norma said she would like the interview at once. The slim girl disappeared. She returned with a nod invited Norma to enter her employer's office.

Norma passed through the door marked "private." The man at the desk looked up. "Miss Travers?" he asked. "Yes, sir. I understand you need a secretary and I've come to apply for the position."

Stuart straightened back. He was a dark man and he wore large, dark-rimmed spectacles. The hair over his temples was rather thin. He looked, Norma thought, exactly like any business man and this was something of a surprise. Dimly she had envisaged a literary agent as a sort of poetic creature with wavy hair, Windsor tie and affected, slouching garments. Frederick J. Stuart looked essentially practical.

"Sit down, Miss Travers," he said. "Miss Fenway tells me you've had considerable experience. Take dictation, I suppose?"

"Yes, sir. Most of my experience has been in a law office. I've had practice taking letters in shorthand and also on the dictaphone."

"I see. Well, let's have a try at it. Ask Miss Fenway for a notebook—"

Norma went for the notebook. For half an hour she took dictation at high speed and afterward transcribed the notes. Her fingers seemed clumsy as she hit the typewriter keys but her shorthand was accurate. It took longer to write the letters than it should have when finished they were perfect.

Stuart studied the letters carefully. He checked the end of a cigar that was not lighted. Presently he broke the silence.

"Report for work Monday morning."

please, Miss Travers. Nine o'clock."

Norma hesitated. "About the salary—"

"Yes, yes. Of course. Twenty-five dollars."

"I was earning $30 on my last job." "Well, we'll make it $27.50. Raise you after the first of the year if your work's satisfactory. Right?"

The girl nodded. "It's all right." She left Frederick J. Stuart's office.

In a building six blocks away F. M. Travers shifted to a more comfortable position in his comfortable desk chair. He was holding the French telephone to his ear.

"What's that?" Travers exclaimed. "You've found the girl? Yes, of course I want to go through with it. Take a cab and come over here right away!" (To Be Continued)

When You CAN'T QUIT

Fatigue is the signal to rest. Obey it if you can. When you can't, keep cool and carry-on in comfort.

Bayer Aspirin was meant for just such times, for it insures your comfort. Freedom from those pains that nag at nerves and wear you down. The tablet will block that threatening headache while it is still just a threat. Take two or three tablets when you've caught a cold, and that's usually the end of it.

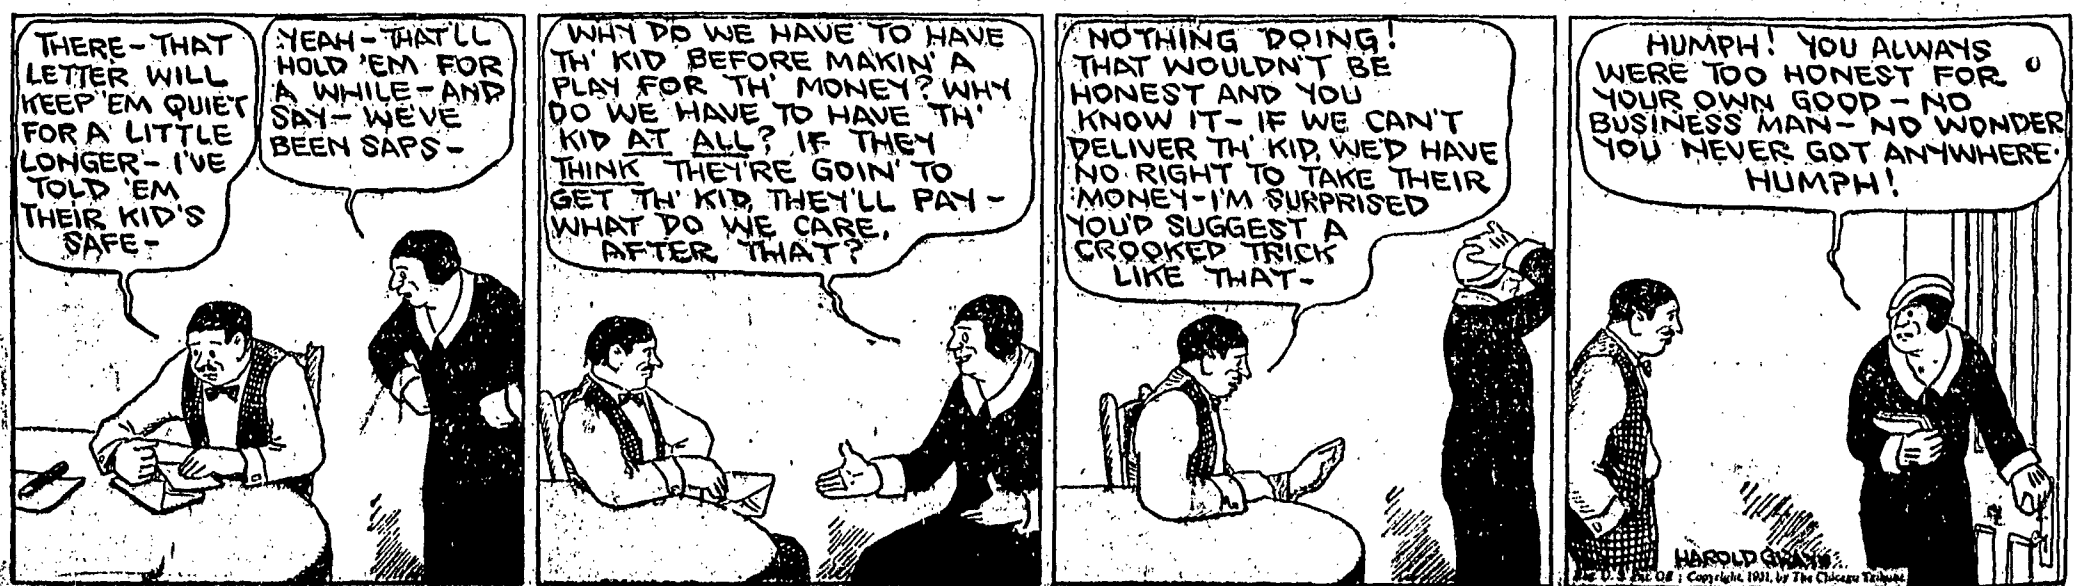

Carry Bayer Aspirin when you travel. Have some at home and keep some at the office. Like an efficient secretary, it will often "save the day" and spare you many uncomfortable, unproductive hours. Perfectly harmless, so keep it handy, keep it in mind, and use it.

No man of affairs can afford to ignore the score and more of uses explained in the proven directions. From a grumbling tooth to those rheumatic pains which seem almost to bend the bones, Bayer Aspirin is ready with its quick relief—and always works. Neuralgia. Neuritis. Any nagging, needless pain.

Get the genuine tablets, stamped with the Bayer cross. They are of perfect purity, absolute uniformity, and have the same action every time. Why experiment with imitations costing a few cents less? The saving is too little. There is too much at stake. But there is economy in the purchase of genuine Bayer Aspirin tablets in the large bottles.

Japan and China Present Cases to League of Nations

Meantime Martial Law Is Declared in Parts of China.

League's Fate at Stake

Observers Feel That Test Is Most Critical in History—Hoover Sees Hope For Settlement.

By The Associated Press
Spokesmen for China and Japan have presented their cases before the League of Nations Council meeting in extraordinary session to restore peace in Manchuria.

China demanded intervention by the League to avert "unhappy results." Japan insisted on direct negotiations with China and disavowed responsibility for the Manchurian trouble. The Council adjourned until tomorrow without taking action.

Martial law was declared at Canton as Communists took advantage of anti-Japanese demonstrations, and at Hankow and elsewhere Japanese Nationals were moving out in the face of hostile demonstrations.

Hoover Sees Hope
In Washington President Hoover submitted to the cabinet reports which were said to indicate that efforts of the League and other interested parties were bearing fruit.

China and Japan have opened direct negotiations, but from Nanking came word that China's answer to Japan's demand for suppression of anti-Japanese demonstrations will assert that the occupation of Manchuria constitutes a state of war.

Reports came to Tokyo from Mukden that Chang Hsueh-Liang, Manchurian governor, had withdrawn from Manchuria to a point south of the Great Wall to avert a clash with Japanese forces.

Pleping had word from Manchuria headquarters that Japanese planes had bombed a train between Mukden and Chinchow.

Meanwhile Washington watched developments, encouraged by negotiations which have been undertaken.

League's Fate at Stake
With hostilities in the Far East threatening to wreck the 1932 disarmament conference and bring discredit upon the League, hopes for a peaceful solution were fixed upon Arside Briand of France and Lord Reading of Great Britain.

It was the unanimous opinion of observers that the test which now faces the League is the most critical in its history and one which challenges its right to live. The assurance of cordial support from the United States gave League leaders added courage for the trial of strength.

200 Japanese Drown.
Tokyo, Oct. 13.—(P)—More than 200 persons were believed to have drowned today in Mive Prefecture, says the Osaka Mainichi, when a swollen river broke its embankment and flooded a number of villages, sweeping all before it.

Linnville En Route Home
Lawrence Linnville, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Linnville of Skidmore, sailed from Southampton, England, on October 10, and is expected to land in New York the latter part of this week. The Skidmore youth has been touring through sections of France, Belgium, Holland, Germany, Italy, Switzerland, and England.

Trace Capone's Profits
Chicago, Oct. 13.—(P)—The profits of an alleged Capone owned gambling house were $150,000 in 1927, a former cashier testified in Al Capone's income tax evasion trial today.

Fred Riles said the gangster was a frequent visitor at the gambling house and always went to the private office. The profits were turned over to Jack Guzik, whom Capone had described as his "financial secretary."

Riles is the witness who was sent on a trip to South America to "hide" before the trial started. He was the principal witness in a similar trial which resulted in a five year sentence for Jack Guzik.

The gambling house of which Riles was cashier was the same one which figured in previous testimony. Several witnesses who once conducted a raid on the house, said Capone met them at the door and announced "I own the place."

"The bank roll" which the house kept always on hand was $10,000, Riles said.

On the direct question, "Did you ever give Al Capone any money?" the former gambling house cashier replied "No." Asked if Capone ever gave him any money, or any orders about the conduct of the place, Riles again replied "No."

Robbers Escape With Loot After Dynamiting Bank

Dozen Blasts Are Used to Wreck Building—Many Shots Exchanged.

Linton, Ind., Oct. 13.—(P)—Two automobile loads of bandits early today isolated this town from communication, wrecked the State Bank building with a dozen blasts of nitroglycerine, shot up the town and escaped with more than $2,000 in currency and negotiable securities amounting to more than $1,800.

Scores of shells from shotguns, revolvers and other firearms were found scattered through the streets in the business section.

Marion Bailey, 72, president of the bank who lives across the street from the institution and who was awakened by the explosives, engaged in a gun fight with a bandit stationed in front of the bank.

The latter, crouched behind a barricade of benches, emptied several revolvers at the Bailey home. One of the bullets barely missed James Young, brother-in-law of Bailey, who was sleeping in an upstairs room.

The robbers had timed the attack with the passage of a freight train through here, starting with a few low toned blasts. After they found residents had been awakened, they speeded up their blasting of the safe, grabbed up the money and fled, firing volleys in every direction.

Manager of Fraternal Benefit Society Is Here

G. J. Luhn, district manager of the Supreme Forest, Woodmen Circle, came here yesterday to spend a week or more in the interest of his organization.

The Woodmen Circle is a fraternal benefit society conducted by women only, for women and children exclusively, and has approximately 165,000 members. It is represented in Maryville by Magnolia Grove No. 106, of which Mrs. Cora Woodburn is the guardian, Mrs. Dora A. Jantz is the financial secretary and Mrs. Nannie Tilson is the banker. The Grove has been rather inactive recently, but Mr. Luhn will devote his time to increasing the membership and developing the social features.

His plans also include the organization of a junior circle, eligible to all boys and girls under 16 years of age, which will be governed by its own junior officers and have its own drill team, all under the direction of the Junior Supervisor of the adult lodge. As soon as enough members are enrolled to make a start, Mr. Luhn promises to bring the officers of one of the junior circles in St. Joseph to Maryville and have them conduct a meeting, open to the public.

Derringer Sues.
Fulton, Mo., Oct. 1.—(P)—Paul Derringer, young pitcher of the world champion St. Louis Cardinals, filed suit in Callaway county circuit court here today for $2,850 damages from a man who gave his name as S. C. Smith, Kansas City, as the result of an automobile accident yesterday on Highway No. 40 near here in which Derringer was injured.

Sees Better Motor Business.
Detroit, Oct. 13.—(P)—Predicting that there will be less unemployment in Detroit during the coming winter, John L. Lovett, general manager of the Michigan Manufacturers Association today said he had "very definite information that there will be at least a moderate revival of the motor car industry."

Cincinnati, Oct. 13.—(P)—Bishop Theodore Irving Reese, 58, of the Episcopal diocese of southern Ohio, died today at his home after several months illness.

Graham School Fair Events Will Be Held Saturday

Part of Program Disrupted by Storm Will Be Given This Week.

Winners Are Announced

Results of Judging of Home Economics, Agricultural, and Other Displays are Made Public.

A sudden storm Saturday night disrupted the plans at the Graham school fair and as a result the public wedding which had been announced was postponed or cancelled, the committee not knowing which, and the program for the evening postponed, probably until this Saturday night.

There were large crowds present for both days of the fair. Congressman David Hopkins spoke before a crowded theater Friday. His subject was "Communism."

The Mound City high school band played Saturday afternoon. In the women's baseball game the Graham team beat the Honey Creek girls by a score of 9 to 5. The results of the fair are as follows:

Mr. Miller also is president of the Nodaway county organization.

BULLETIN
Baton Rouge, La., Oct. 13.—(P)—The Baton Rouge unit of the National Guard was ordered out here at 2:45 p. m. today, shortly after Lieutenant Governor Paul N. Cyr had taken the oath as governor at Shreveport to challenge the right of Governor Huey P. Long to continue as chief executive.

New York, Oct. 13.—(P)—Jane Addams, international known welfare worker, was today awarded the annual $5,000 Pictorial Review achievement prize.

Church Loses in Spain Catholicism Is Rejected as State Religion.

Madrid, Oct. 13.—(P)—The National Assembly tonight rejected the Catholic religion as the religion of the state.

By a vote of 287 to 41 the assemblymen approved article 3 of the new republican constitution which states "no state religion exists."

By this decision, when the new constitution is finally enacted, centuries of official Catholic worship in Spain will end.

There has been conflict between the church and the state in Spain since the fall of Alfonso XIII.

It came to a head several months ago with riots and burning of church property, disturbances which were attributed in some quarters to a pastoral letter written by Cardinal Segura Y Saez, then primate of Spain, in which the people were urged to vote in the first Republican general election for candidates who would defend the interests of the church.

When antagonism against him became even stronger the cardinal left Spain and conferred with his superiors at Vatican City. Later he was formally expelled by the republican government and recently he was retiring as primate of Spain by the Pope.

Needlework Guild Plans to Increase Membership Here

Local Chapter Will Conduct Drive This Week to Aid Needy.

A membership drive will be conducted this week by the Maryville chapter of the Needlework Guild of America. New members join by giving two new garments a year to the Guild. The garments are used for the relief of the needy here in Maryville.

The Maryville branch was founded in the fall of 1929, and has been very active in relieving suffering in Maryville since that time. More than 800 garments were distributed through local charities last year because of the work of the Guild.

The membership drive here is simultaneous with a national drive. Members are grouped under directors, each director having eleven members, and the garments will be turned in at the ingathering to be held October 31 in the Elks club basement.

The Guild was founded in 1885 to meet the needs of unfortunate men, women, and children throughout the nation. It is non-sectarian.

Leaders of the Guild here urge every family capable of doing so to join. Anyone who wishes to join and who was overlooked in the membership drive should communicate with Mrs. F. M. Townsend, president of the local chapter.

The public is invited to view the garments on display at the ingathering October 31 between 11 and 5 o'clock.

Funeral services will be held at the First M. E. Church Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Rev. Lane Douglas, who was a boyhood friend of Mr. Nicholas will conduct the services. Burial will be made at the Ohio cemetery at Burlington Junction.

Bruening Appeals to World to Aid German Republic

Life of Moderate Government in Germany Is in Balance.

Brown Shirts to Fight

Nationalist Opposition Seeks to Defeat Chancellor Friday—Communists Deputies Hiss Bruening.

Berlin, Oct. 13.—(P)—Germany's foreign policy of reconciliation remains unchanged, Chancellor Heinrich Bruening told the Reichstag immediately after presenting his new cabinet to the representatives of the people today.

"I shall continue the foreign policy in the spirit of the conversations of the last few months, especially the most recent Franco-German conversations," he declared at the opening of the Reichstag session.

"The Reich's government does not expect salvation solely through international negotiations, or with the aid of foreign countries, but Germany during the past decade has experienced more trouble than all her neighbors. Now the unsolved problems of the world have increased domestic distress to the limits of what is bearable and have nourished a growing despair in all sections of our people."

Appeals to World.
"That is why Germany has a right to appeal to all the peoples of the world at last to translate their efforts for an indispensable common effort into practical deeds."

After emphasizing the interdependence of nations, the chancellor said that "the far-seeing initiative of the president of the United States unfortunately brought only passing relief."

The life of moderate government in Germany swung in the balance with the opening of the Reichstag for its first session since March as the chancellor faced the entrenched Nationalist opposition seeking to win support for a critical vote of confidence on Friday.

Communists Interrupt.
The chancellor talked for an hour. The Communists continually interrupted with hisses, laughter and angry cries of "dictatorship" and "inflation." The Nationalist opposition members, did not enter the chamber until after the chancellor had finished his declaration.

The new cabinet's program, as Chancellor Bruening outlined it, will include: Continuation of the policy of international reconciliation.

Definite settlement of the political debts question.

Safeguarding the stability of the German mark.

Lowering the cost of production.

Restricting superfluous imports.

Maintaining law and order against all disturbers.

Appointing an economic advisory board.

Against the anti-French utterances of the Nationalists at Harzburg Sunday, the chancellor pledged continuation of Franco-German efforts at rapprochement.

Hopkins Man Finds Conditions in Parts of Arkansas Are Good
The people in the Northern part of Arkansas, especially around Siloam Springs, feel that things are coming their way again, after last year's drought when it was necessary for the nation to send out relief, H. W. Bollinger of Hopkins learned after a trip to Arkansas.

The fruit crop was good this year, and he said the people are in better condition to face the winter here than in many years. Tomatoes were a big crop today and the farmers told him they got $8 a ton, which he said appeared pretty small to him.

The corn crop north of Joplin, appeared good, even better than in this section, according to Mr. Bollinger, who is secretary of the Nodaway County Farmers Union.

Mr. Bollinger went to Siloam Springs last week to bring back to Hopkins the furniture of his mother, Mrs. Ella C. Musso. His mother, who is now in Kansas City, will live with him this winter.

Mrs. Musso, who formerly was the wife of the late B. D. Bollinger, is 80 years old. She suffered an injury to one of her legs about two weeks ago.

Jumble-Lations

Maryville now has a "Wild Bill" but his pitching isn't as accurate as the St. Louis southpaw's... This man became annoyed at a large flock of chirping birds that were roosting in the trees in front of his house... He went out in the street searching for a suitable missile to hurl at the birds, and finally selected a smooth, round rock... He wound up, took careful aim, and: Here's the pitch!... The rock describes a neat arc, takes a fast drop, and crashes through a front window of the house... It was a wild pitch, ball one... The rest of the story is probably fiction but anyway we're told the man rushed in the house and found his wife indignantly surveying the damage... She had a fly swatter in her hand and smacked a clean single off the wayward pitcher before he could retreat to town to buy another window pane.

Deficiency Suit Is Being Heard in Circuit Court

Legality of Bank Merger Is Questioned by Defense in Case.

A replevin suit which seemed to hinge on the legality of the merger of the Bank of Guilford and the Citizens Bank of Guilford into the Guilford Bank was being heard before a jury in circuit court today.

The new bank is the plaintiff and Hugh Whiteford is the defendant in the case, arising over a note for over $2,700 executed by the defendant to the Bank of Guilford before the merger.

The suit was brought to recover the deficiency left after a replevin on a number of head of cattle, given as a chattel to the bank, had been executed by the sheriff last summer.

Question of Ownership
The defense claimed that the new bank is not the sole owner of the note, admitting the note to be in effect, but contending that the law was not strictly followed in the consolidation of the two banking institutions in 1929, in that proper notice was not given the shareholders.

Judge D. D. Reeves overruled the objections of the defense on this point, and also admitted into testimony over the objections of the defense the note and the chattel, which the defense claimed did not adequately describe the cattle, given as security.

The jury drawn for this case, consisted of Duffey Wallace, A. Wiley, Amos Shell, R. B. Young, A. A. Borer, Charles Lewis, Earl Hest, Alva Heflin, R. M. Lasley, Roy Plummer, M. J. Douglass and Ed Wiley.

Two Divorces Granted
Two divorces were granted, one to Alta May Howell from Creamson R. Howell, the plaintiff getting custody of the minor children, and Lora Fisher from William Fisher.

A motion for a new trial was filed by the plaintiff in the replevin suit of the Mutual Finance company against the Rees motor company of Burlington Junction, which was tried last week.

The Round Prairie Bank was given a judgment of $171.84 on a note against Thomas Hutchinson, and others.

The action of Richard Altman against Aitchison county for the recovery of salary as deputy circuit clerk, brought to this county on a change of venue, was continued. In the case of the First Loan and Trust company against William J. and Joe Corrigan, an attachment, the sheriff acknowledged a deed to the purchaser, Harry A. Robinson, for $15.

Half Million in Farmers' Trust Assets Collected

Bank Has Paid Out $231,000 and Had $128,000 on Hand Now.

Liquidator Testifies

E. C. McKissick Takes Stand in Circuit Court in Preference Claim Suit—Other Proceedings Listed.

Assets of approximately a half million dollars have been collected since the failure of the Farmers Trust Company in April, 1930, according to E. C. McKissick, deputy finance commissioner in charge of liquidation, who testified on the stand in circuit court yesterday afternoon in the hearing of Annie Humphreys against the Farmers Trust Company on a suit for preference. This $500,000 includes about $100,000 that was on hand in cash and due from banks when the bank closed.

When questioned by A. F. Harvey, attorney for the plaintiff, Mr. McKissick said that the bank already had paid out approximately $231,000 in preferred claims and has on hand now $128,000. There is a suit now pending in the Supreme Court brought by the motor vehicle department of the state for $60,000 preferred claim and it will be months before this suit is settled. The rest of the money, or the difference between the amount on hand and the preferred claims and the half million collected was bills payable, the commissioner testified.

No Estimate of Total.
When asked if he could estimate what per cent of the assets would be collected and also what per cent of the deposits would be paid in dividends, Mr. McKissick said these were impossible questions to answer, all depending upon the prices of commodities, the prices of real estate and general conditions.

No decision on the Humphreys case was given by Judge D. D. Reeves yesterday as testimony was taken in two other suits and the arguments have not been heard.

The City of Maryville withdrew its suit for preference on its deposits in the Farmers Trust Company and the school district of Maryville filed a suit against the Farmers Trust Company to determine priority.

Other proceedings were: Federal Land Bank of St. Louis vs. Martin Asbell, et al., note, continued until January, 1932, term.

Charles Chambers vs. Farmers Trust Company, unpaid draft, stricken from docket.

United Power Securities Company, two unpaid drafts, motions for new trials overruled.

New Trial Denied.
Maryville Electric Light and Power Company vs. Farmers Trust Company, unpaid draft, motion for new trial overruled.

W. Howard Watson vs. Farmers Trust Company, claim for preference on mortgage, preference withdrawn.

Armistice in Cow War

Rain and Mud Roads Halt Strife in Iowa.

Mount Pleasant, Ia., Oct. 13.—(P)—Rain and impassable roads today caused an armistice to be declared in Baltimore township, the third storm center in the state tuberculosis cattle testing strife.

The 38 veterinarians protected by 300 National Guardsmen, went to Jackson and Center townships in Henry county to continue testing operations that were prevented yesterday by demonstrations.

Roland Hart, 20, today was still at liberty, after his arrest near New London for ridiculing troopers, and his delivery from the New London jail by 500 farmers.

Brig. Gen. Park A. Findley, commanding the guardsmen, said that since young Hart had been turned over to civil authorities, his return was in the hands of the sheriff's office.

Attaches of the latter office said no official notice had been given them of Hart's release and they were not making any attempt to find the young man.

Officers of the camp declared testing in Baltimore township, scene yesterday of a demonstration by 150 farmers near the farm of Curtis McHugh, vice president of the farmers protective association and a principal in the anti-testing opposition, would be continued as soon as roads were passable, probably tomorrow.

When you postpone, you neglect. See Grays today.—Adv.
